Re: Executive Offer Letter — Chief Technology Officer (Independent Contractor)

Dear Srimanta,

On behalf of Insignia Consultancy Solutions LLC (the "Company"), we are pleased to offer you an appointment to serve as Chief Technology Officer ("CTO") on a retained, independent-contractor basis, subject to the terms set forth in this Executive Offer Letter (the "Letter").

This offer is made pursuant to a resolution approved by the Company's stakeholders, Rita Mishra (President) and Megan Cruz (Chief Executive Officer), authorizing your engagement as CTO and the related compensation and equity terms described below.

Key Term	Summary
Position	Chief Technology Officer (CTO) — executive leadership/officer role
Relationship	Independent contractor (not an employee); no employee benefits
Effective Date	[Start Date] (or upon mutual execution of this Letter)
Monthly Retainer	$2,000 USD per month, payable upon invoice
Customer Demo Fee	$500 USD per customer demo you anchor (whether or not the opportunity is won), as defined below
Equity Interest	10% membership interest in Insignia Consultancy Solutions LLC (subject to Operating Agreement and documentation)
Separate Vendor Payments	If a Company project is delivered in part by your company (e.g., ProjecXlight) under a separate SOW, that vendor is paid for its accepted scope; such payments are separate from your CTO

	retainer/demo fees
Expense Reimbursement	Company reimburses reasonable sales/customer expenses (with receipts and pre-approval where practical)
Governing Law	State of Texas

1. Appointment, Reporting, and Executive Capacity

You will be appointed to serve as the Company's Chief Technology Officer ("CTO") and will report to the Chief Executive Officer (CEO). In this capacity, you will work closely with the CEO and President, and you will collaborate with stakeholders, customers, and team members to advance the Company's technology strategy, delivery quality, and growth objectives.

Your appointment is expected to begin on 1st May 2026 (the "Effective Date"), or on the date this Letter is fully executed, whichever is later.

2. Independent Contractor Relationship

You will provide services to the Company as an independent contractor. Nothing in this Letter shall be construed to create an employer–employee relationship, a partnership, or a joint venture between you and the Company. You will not be eligible for employee benefits (including health benefits, paid time off, unemployment insurance, or workers' compensation coverage) unless the Company elects otherwise in writing and in compliance with applicable law.

Unless the Company agrees otherwise in writing, you will invoice the Company monthly (or on another mutually agreed cadence). You are responsible for all taxes, withholdings, and statutory or contractual obligations of any sort, including income taxes and self-employment taxes, arising from amounts paid to you under this Letter. The Company may issue appropriate tax reporting forms consistent with contractor status.

The Company will define goals, priorities, and desired outcomes, and may request your participation in leadership meetings and customer engagements; however, you will control the manner and means of performing your services, consistent with independent contractor status and the obligations in this Letter.

3. Role Scope and Key Responsibilities (CTO Expectations)

As CTO, you are expected to provide strategic and hands-on technology leadership. The Company values a pragmatic approach that balances innovation, delivery reliability, security, and customer outcomes. Your responsibilities include, without limitation:

BoloForms Envelope ID: ce9af7e0-e545-44cb-9284-127440d9fcfc

- Technology strategy & roadmap: define and maintain the technology vision, architecture standards, and delivery roadmap aligned with Company goals and customer needs.
- Solution architecture & delivery governance: guide technical design for client engagements, review key architectural decisions, and ensure scalability, quality, and maintainability.
- Customer demos and technical presentations: design, prepare, and present compelling demos or proof-of-concepts for customers and prospects; tailor messaging to business value and technical credibility.
- Customer interfacing & discovery: participate in customer meetings to gather requirements, clarify scope, identify risks, and translate needs into actionable technical plans.
- Project proposals & statements of work (SOW): support proposal development (scope, approach, estimates, staffing, timelines, risks/assumptions) and contribute to RFP/RFI responses and technical documentation.
- Team leadership & mentorship: mentor engineers and technical contributors, set engineering best practices, support hiring and onboarding, and cultivate a culture of learning, accountability, and craftsmanship.
- Technology leadership in delivery: support project execution through technical oversight, reviews, and escalation management; help resolve critical technical blockers.
- Technology risk management: identify delivery, security, and operational risks; propose mitigation plans; and escalate material risks promptly to Company leadership.
- Security, privacy, and compliance: promote secure-by-design practices; support compliance with applicable laws and contractual obligations (including confidentiality, IP, and data protection commitments).
- Operational excellence: establish or improve processes for development, testing, release management, incident response, and technical documentation.
- Vendor and tool stewardship: evaluate and recommend tools, platforms, and vendors; manage technical tradeoffs and cost considerations in collaboration with Company leadership.
- Sales, marketing, branding, and customer support: partner with leadership on go-to-market activities; provide technical input for marketing collateral and branding; support customer support escalations and account success.

In performing these responsibilities, you will use reasonable efforts to: (i) act in the Company's best interests; (ii) communicate material technical or delivery risks promptly; (iii) keep stakeholders appropriately informed; and (iv) maintain professional conduct when representing the Company to customers, partners, and the public.

4. Compensation, Demo Fees, Expense Reimbursement, and Separate Vendor Payments

4.1 Monthly Retainer.
The Company will pay you a retainer of $2,000 USD per month for CTO leadership services. Retainer payments will be made within fifteen (15) days of receipt of your invoice, unless the parties agree to a different cadence in writing.

4.2 Customer Demo Fee (Anchored Demos).
In addition to the monthly retainer, the Company will pay you $500 USD for each qualifying customer demo that you anchor for the Company (an "Anchored Demo"), regardless of whether the related sales opportunity is won or lost.

An Anchored Demo means a customer- or prospect-facing demonstration, proof-of-concept, or technical presentation that is: (i) requested or approved by the Company; (ii) materially prepared by you (planning, build/configuration, narrative, and/or deck); and (iii) delivered with you serving as the lead presenter or otherwise being the primary person responsible for the demo's technical substance and flow.

For clarity and fairness, routine internal meetings, generic capability overviews, or replays of an unchanged prior demo will not be treated as a separate Anchored Demo. If a demo substantially changes due to new customer requirements or new solution scope, the parties will treat it as a new Anchored Demo.

Demo fees will be paid within fifteen (15) days of receipt of an invoice that references the customer/prospect, demo date, and a short description of the demo scope.

4.3 Expenses.
The Company will reimburse reasonable, business-related expenses incurred in connection with sales, customer meetings, marketing, branding, and customer support activities that you undertake on the Company's behalf (including travel, lodging, meals, conference/event fees, and customer-related materials), provided such expenses are: (i) consistent with Company guidance; (ii) supported by receipts or reasonable documentation; and (iii) pre-approved when practical. Reimbursements will be made within thirty (30) days of submission of documentation.

4.4 Project Delivery Model; Vendor Allocation for Won Projects.
When the Company is awarded ("wins") a client project, the Company intends to allocate the project scope and corresponding budget across qualified vendors/subcontractors in consultation with you, based on customer requirements, delivery timelines, technical fit, and commercial terms. Each vendor will be paid for the portion of work that the vendor actually performs, as defined in written statements of work or subcontractor agreements (including deliverables, acceptance criteria, and payment terms).

By way of example (and not as an exclusivity commitment), the Company anticipates that prime vendors may include: (a) ProjecXlight (an entity owned/controlled by you) and (b) Winsignia Solutions Pvt Ltd (India). For illustration, application development, testing automation, and QA may be performed by ProjecXlight, while Winsignia Solutions Pvt Ltd may perform native AI development, mobile app development, sales support, warranty support, customer support, documentation and user guides, training, cloud engineering, and related services, subject in each case to the final scope agreed with the customer and the Company.

To keep this arrangement balanced and compliant, vendor selection, scope allocation, and pricing will be made in good faith and documented in writing. Where you have a financial interest in a proposed vendor (including ProjecXlight), you agree to disclose that interest and to participate in allocation discussions in a transparent manner; final approval of vendor engagements and related contracts will rest with the Company (through the CEO/President or authorized signatories).

4.5 Separate Payments to Your Companies for Delivered Scope.
If the Company separately engages any company owned or controlled by you (including ProjecXlight) to perform delivery work on a client project, the Company will pay that company directly for the portion of the solution actually delivered by that company, as defined in the applicable statement of work or subcontractor agreement and upon acceptance of deliverables. These vendor payments are separate from (and in addition to) your personal monthly retainer and demo fees.

To avoid duplicate payment, the parties will make a good-faith effort to ensure that work compensated under a vendor statement of work is not also invoiced as CTO leadership services, and vice versa. Nothing in this Section 4.5 creates a guaranteed minimum volume of vendor work for any entity.

5. Equity Interest (10% Membership Interest)

Subject to your acceptance of this offer and execution of applicable Company documents, the Company will grant you a ten percent (10%) membership interest in Insignia Consultancy Solutions LLC (the "Membership Interest"). The Membership Interest is intended to recognize your leadership role and ongoing contributions to the Company's growth and value creation.

The Membership Interest will be documented through the Company's Operating Agreement and/or an amendment or written consent, which will set forth the rights and obligations associated with membership (including capital accounts/profits allocations, distributions, voting rights if any, and transfer restrictions). Unless expressly provided otherwise in those documents, your Membership Interest may be subject to dilution in connection with future issuances of equity interests approved by the Company.
You acknowledge that equity ownership may have tax consequences. The Company encourages you to consult your own tax and legal advisors regarding the treatment of any equity grant, allocations, or distributions.

6. Executive Standards, Duties, and Compliance

As CTO and a member of the Company's leadership team, you will be expected to act with integrity, professionalism, and good judgment. When performing services for the Company and when representing the Company externally, you agree to act in the Company's best interests and to comply with applicable laws, regulations, and contractual obligations.

You acknowledge that, as an executive officer and equity holder, you may be subject to heightened duties and standards under applicable law (including duties of care, loyalty, confidentiality, and candor to the extent they apply). Nothing in this Letter is intended to waive or reduce any non-waivable obligations imposed by law.

You will promptly notify the CEO of material issues that could reasonably affect customer commitments, delivery timelines, security posture, or the Company's reputation, including any known or suspected security incident involving Company or customer information.

7. Confidentiality and Data Protection

During and after your engagement, you will keep strictly confidential and will not use or disclose to any third party (except as authorized by the Company in writing) any non-public information relating to the Company, its customers, its vendors, its personnel, or its business operations, including but not limited to: customer lists, pricing, proposals, business plans, product plans, financial information, source code, designs, architectures, trade secrets, and any customer confidential information (collectively, "Confidential Information").

Confidential Information does not include information that you can demonstrate: (i) is or becomes publicly available through no fault of yours; (ii) was lawfully known to you without restriction before disclosure by the Company; or (iii) is lawfully received from a third party without breach of any obligation. If you are required by law to disclose Confidential Information, you will (to the extent legally permitted) provide prompt notice to the Company so it may seek an appropriate protective order.

You agree to use commercially reasonable safeguards to protect Confidential Information, including customer data and credentials, and to follow Company and customer security requirements that are communicated to you. Upon termination of your engagement (or upon request), you will return or securely delete Company Confidential Information and Company property, subject to reasonable archival copies required for legal compliance, which remain subject to confidentiality.

8. Intellectual Property; Work Product

All inventions, works of authorship, designs, documentation, code, specifications, processes, or other deliverables that you create, develop, or reduce to practice in the course of providing CTO services to the Company or using Company Confidential Information ("Work Product") will be owned by the Company to the maximum extent permitted by law, and you hereby assign to the Company all right, title, and interest in such Work Product.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, you retain ownership of any pre-existing tools, templates, code, or materials that you developed independently without using Company Confidential Information ("Background IP"). If you incorporate Background IP into Work Product delivered to the Company, you grant the Company a perpetual, worldwide, royalty-free license to use, modify, and distribute such Background IP solely as necessary to use the Work Product for the Company's business and customer obligations.

Work product delivered by a separately engaged vendor (including a vendor owned or controlled by you) will be governed by the applicable statement of work or subcontractor agreement, which should include appropriate intellectual property and confidentiality terms consistent with customer and Company requirements.

You will ensure that any third-party or open-source software used in Company deliverables is used in compliance with applicable licenses and customer obligations, and you will disclose any material license restrictions to the Company in advance where reasonably practicable.

9. Outside Business Interests; Conflicts of Interest

The Company recognizes that you may maintain independent business activities and interests, including through entities you own or control. Such activities are permitted, provided that they do not materially interfere with your ability to perform your responsibilities under this Letter and do not create an unmanaged conflict of interest.

You agree to promptly disclose to the CEO any situation where your outside business interests could reasonably be viewed as directly competing with, conflicting with, or impairing your objectivity in performing CTO duties, including situations where an entity you own or control may provide services to the Company or to the Company's customers. The parties will work in good faith to manage conflicts through disclosure, recusal from certain decisions, information barriers, or other reasonable measures.

10. Mutual Non-Solicitation and Non-Circumvention of Clients

To protect both your independent business interests and the Company's business development efforts, you and the Company agree to the following mutual non-solicitation and non-circumvention commitments:

- During your engagement, neither party will knowingly use the other party's Confidential Information to solicit or pursue the other party's clients outside the scope of work authorized under this Letter.
- For a client opportunity that is pursued jointly or shared in confidence between you and the Company, and that results in a project being won (i.e., a contract or paid engagement is entered into), neither party will directly pursue that same client for a competing engagement outside the Company for a period of Six (6) months following the end of the applicable engagement, unless the parties agree otherwise in writing.
- For a client opportunity that is pursued jointly or shared in confidence between you and the Company, but is not won (i.e., no contract or paid engagement is entered into), neither party will directly pursue that same client for a competing engagement outside the Company for a period of six (6) months after the last substantive proposal, demo, or sales interaction, unless the parties agree otherwise in writing.
- These commitments do not prevent either party from doing business with clients with whom they had a demonstrable pre-existing relationship independent of the other party, provided that neither party uses the other's Confidential Information in connection with such work.

Nothing in this Section 10 restricts the Company from serving its customers through the Company, or restricts you from conducting your independent business generally, so long as the above mutual non-circumvention principles are respected.

11. Authority, Communications, and Company Representation

As CTO, you may represent the Company in technical discussions with customers, partners, and vendors, and you may provide technical input for proposals and statements of work. However, you will not have authority to bind the Company to contracts, pricing, or non-standard commitments unless expressly authorized in writing by the CEO or President. You agree to coordinate external communications and customer commitments with Company leadership to ensure consistent messaging and risk management.

12. Term and Termination

This engagement will begin on the Effective Date and will continue on a month-to-month basis unless terminated as provided below.

BoloForms Envelope ID: ce9af7e0-e545-44cb-9284-127440d9fcfc

Either you or the Company may terminate this engagement for any reason upon thirty (30) days' written notice. The Company may terminate immediately for cause, including material breach of this Letter, fraud, gross misconduct, or a material violation of confidentiality or law.

Upon termination, the Company will pay any undisputed earned but unpaid retainer and approved demo fees through the termination effective date, and will reimburse approved expenses submitted in accordance with Section 4.3. Sections relating to confidentiality, IP/work product, and other provisions intended to survive will remain in effect.

13. Miscellaneous

Governing Law; Venue. This Letter will be governed by the laws of the State of Texas, without regard to conflict-of-law principles. Any dispute arising out of or relating to this Letter will be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction located in Texas, unless the parties agree in writing to an alternative forum.

Entire Agreement; Amendment. This Letter (together with any Operating Agreement and any written addenda or statements of work expressly incorporated by reference) constitutes the parties' understanding regarding your CTO engagement and supersedes prior discussions on the same subject. Any amendment must be in writing and signed by both parties.

Severability. If any provision of this Letter is found unenforceable, the remainder will remain in effect and the parties will substitute a valid provision that best reflects the original intent.

Counterparts; Electronic Signatures. This Letter may be executed in counterparts and by electronic signature, each of which will be deemed an original.

If you accept this offer, please sign below and return a copy to the Company. We look forward to working with you in this leadership role.
